

August 10, 2009

Letter of Recommendation

To: Whom It May Concern

Subject: LARA Custom Homes
"Quality is just the beginning"

Eric R. LaraOwner

The purpose for our correspondence is to provide an introduction of Mr. Eric Lara, builder and owner of Lara Custom Homes. My wife and I had made the decision to relocate from the winters of Colorado to a much warmer climate state. As retired seniors, we felt it was time for us to look for a permanent place to call home and unfortunately leave beautiful Colorado before it was too late to leave. After looking for real estate in several western states we found our home in Vail, Arizona and closed in late 2008. Once purchased, we also knew that we wanted to add our own touch to our home and began asking around the neighborhood for a good builder and that is how we met Mr. Lara. We also found out that Mr. Lara can build you a new home or remodel your existing one in whatever price range you wish.

Once informed of the various changes and/or additions we wanted to make to our home, Mr. Lara immediately began working with us and kept us fully informed of all the steps necessary to finalize the project including the financial breakdown, total cost, and overall completion date(s) of the total project. The job included various construction tasks involving all phases of construction work such as additions, enclosures, tile installation, plumbing, a/c and electrical work we wanted done throughout the home. I'm pleased to say that all projects were professionally built with quality workmanship and material, experienced and friendly workers, and completed within the specified time frames agreed upon.

Mr. Lara has always delivered professional, timely, and quality work, at attractive pricing! His approach is friendly, attentive, and he certainly works with his customers to ensure that they remain informed and involved throughout the project. With regards to any issues, changes, problems, or concerns that may surface during the construction phase, Mr. Lara was always available, helpful, and we both arrived at mutually agreeable position(s). Also, of importance to us was the fact that you can depend on Eric to return your phone calls, and above all, you can trust him with your home! During the total remodeling project, my wife and I both felt very comfortable with him to just turn over our home to him with pleasant results.

In summary, Eric offers professional experience, reasonable prices, honesty, dependability, and total customer satisfaction and I highly recommend him for your next project!

Sincerely,
Pedro Alderete