To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for Eric Lara & Lara Custom Builders, LLC.

We did a major remodel to our house located in Oro Valley, AZ. Two bearing walls, approx. 24', were removed to open up to living room, family room and kitchen. It involved structural engineering and plan approval by the building department. Eric is a very talented person to deal with all building inspectors and building officials. He knows how to work with them to get plan approval on a timely basis.

I also appreciated his talents to visualize and make helpful suggestions on how to do the removal to make the outcome how my wife and I wanted it to look like. This is very important. Our outcome gives the "WOW" look and our friends could not believe the improvement it gives to our house. Our value and sales appeal has much increased.

Eric's employees were very talented and excellent workers, they always cleaned up the construction site daily, music was never a problem, they were pleasant and very trust worthy. Eric does not smoke and all his employees do not smoke. This was very important because my wife is allergic to smoke.

Eric's bid was very reasonable and he did what he said he would do. Change orders were very reasonable and many were incorporated into the regular price. I never felt overcharged for any work on our project. I have been a general contractor and have completed many commercial remodel and new construction for myself. My wife and I can highly recommend Eric Lara for any type of remodel or new home construction. He is honest and will do the job right. If you have questions, please call me.
